

Introduction – Paul Miller

It is my pleasure to introduce our very special guest. This performer graduated college with a degree in accounting. Shortly after realizing his mistake, he sold his calculator and pencils, picked up a set of juggling balls, and hit the open road of comedy.

His act has been described as ‘side-splittingly funny’ and has delighted audiences across the country at Fortune 500 companies, Off Broadway, and Disney Cruise Lines.

Please welcome with a BIG round of applause, Paul Miller!

Tips for a Great Introduction:

A proper introduction is crucial to a successful performance. The introduction builds excitement and sets the tone for the entire performance. This is an important task.

You or someone from your organization needs to introduce the comedian or speaker. If you don't feel up for the task, feel free to delegate this responsibility. Just make sure the person you select follows these important rules:

- Read over the introduction beforehand and practice reciting it aloud. Ask the performer about the correct pronunciation of their name.
- If you have a buffet or bar, the introduction is not the time to announce last call for food and drinks. Make that announcement at least 5–10 minutes before showtime (adjust timing based on crowd size).
- When you approach the microphone, give everyone a few minutes to settle down. Wait as long as needed for everyone to be seated and to quiet down.
- Don't worry about being funny. The comedian will handle that.
- Be energetic! You're excited about the entertainment, right? Build the anticipation by showing genuine enthusiasm during your intro.
